“ We were so very saddened to hear of Pete’s passing. He was always so very positive and enjoyed getting our two furries ‘worked up’.. our dachshund likes to bark, and would bark loudly when he saw Pete. I nicknamed Pete ‘Trouble’ .. We are going to miss Trouble in the neighborhood.

I remember when we first met Pete, he would talk of living in Alaska, and you could see a fondness of that time as he spoke.

We offer our deepest sympathies to his bride, Sandy, and his children. When he spoke of his family, he always beamed with pride.

Thank you for being our friend, Pete. You will be missed.

“ Most mornings around 9 a.m., Pete would be out to pick up his newspaper. Sophie (our little black Shih Tzu) would see him and run over to wiggle her butt to get him to pet her. Once he bent over she would move out of his reach, just to tease him, but would finally let him pat her on the head. We will miss the enjoyment this gave us. Sophie still goes over to see if you're there. Thank you Pete for the joy this brought us. Sandie, Sophie and John Schmidt
