“ Grandma gave me trifle. It was the thing I looked forward to most at family parties and she always made enough for seconds. I went to visit her a few months ago and spent a few hours with her. Her cackle will always live on in my memories. By the end of my visit we sat in the foyer where she lived and watched the rain drizzle down onto beautiful flowers. I think we both knew it was the last time we would see each other in this life. Roses were her favorite flower and they will always remind me of her. We are all so blessed to have had her in our lives. Although I am sad and my little family has shed our share of tears, we are happy she is with her husband and children that passed before her. We love you Grandma.

“ Grandma Sadler!! I love you so much!! I am so thankful for the faith we have! I know birth wasn't the beginning and that death isn't the end...WE WILL see each other again!! You are my favorite for always and forever! I am so blessed for all the memories that I have made with you and know we have another angel watching over our family! You have truly created an amazing legacy that I am beyond blessed to be a part of! XOOX from the heavens to my love your granddaughter

“ Mom thanks for the years. Glad I found Jayne and became a member of this family. It was an honor sharing all those memories with you and sharing our experiences while you lived with us. May this journey now be the best. Blessings on you.

“ There are so many memories I have of Aunt Phyllis; she was such a good cook, seeing her at JC Penney's in Magna and Valley Fair Mall when we bought fabric. I still have the table cloth she made me when I got married and think of her every time I use it on the table. But my favorite was when she was the scribe for Uncle LeGrande when I received my patriarchal blessing. I enjoyed her Christmas cards and will miss her.
