

Tinamarie Malin

November 30, 1960 - June 29, 2022

Tinamarie Malin was born on November 30, 1960 in Malabon, Philippines to Mario and Florentina Amato. She attended the University of Manila. Tinamarie worked in financial banking – specifically at Olympic Savings and Navy Federal Credit Union. She became head teller, and later became assistant manager, retiring in 2009.

Tinamarie loved her family. She found so much joy taking trips with them. Tinamarie also enjoyed attending church service, listening to Christian music, and spending time at home knitting, sewing and crafting with paper.

Tinamarie was preceded in death by her brother, Rene Amato (2006) and her parents, Mario and Florentina (2011). She is survived by her husband James, daughter Bianca, grandson Blaise, granddaughter Marlowe, brothers Fernando and Greg, and sisters Polly and Ruby.

Tinamarie will be missed by all who knew her.

“Everything will pass, only what’s done for Christ will last.”

Will miss Ate Marie so much. She was so full of faith and had no fears and completely trusted God with everything. She was such a comfort to me when I lost mom, sending words of encouragement, checking up on how I'm doing. I'm going to miss her so much! But I know she's rejoicing in the arms of the Lord and resting in His care.

Would like to thank you Ate Marie for being a friend, a sister and being an inspiration. I will never forget you as my Sunday School teacher when I converted in the church and officemates in church's office. I know you are resting in peace with our dear Lord.

I remember her in the Philippines when I was a little girl growing up. She sold me a couple of beauty products. One time she was selling me a bra haha but I was still too young, 13, she said it was time. I think I did buy the bra. Also there was that hand cream she said it's good for my hands. I don't know if I had enough money then to buy it. Anyway, thank God the Lord brought her to America and prospered her, she didn't have to worry about work anymore. Praying for the Lord's comfort to her family. I know she's with the Lord now because one Monday morning maybe about a couple of weeks ago during prayer the Lord told me that He was taking her. I asked if it's still okay to lengthen her days, He said "What for? She is ready." We see death as something terrible but to those that die in the Lord it is a time of celebration. I know she is happy where she is. Knowing that I won't wish her back. She'll probably get angry with me. Lol Wishing only to make it to where she is one of these days. Being in the presence of God is the greatest thing we will ever experience. So I know she won't want to come back. Praying for her family and God's comfort on everyone. Hang in there; it won't be long, we will all see her again soon. 🙏💕💕

My first name Denny actually came from her that originally intended for my older brother and it's an honor for me to have it as she resembled a very tough and intelligent woman who is driven by her faith in God. I always love listening when she talks because she sound sophisticated and very intellegent more like a boss. I'm very proud of what she overcome in her life to be successful and she never failed to care and share. Her life will live on within me and losing her will always give pain but knowing she's already won her battles alongside our Lord Jesus gave us all peace that she is in a better place now and that place is without pain. Our love and prayers to Bianca and Uncle James, may you have that courage she had to live on, i love you both and hope to see you guys soon. -Denny Amato

“ I will always remember Tita Marie as a strong-willed person, courageous, and her faith in God especially these past weeks truly has been admirable. I remember the time Tita gave me a virtual tour of her and Uncle James' house and she shared her love of sewing, showing all the stuff she made. I asked her to make me something and she did. She made me and my mom aprons, and found a way to send it halfway across the world. She has always been so thoughtful. I will miss our conversations Tita. Until the end, you hoped to get better, if only your body would allow it. But you're so ready to meet God as well. And now you're free...

“ I remember when I was a kid, I need to study and memorize the multiplication table but it's hard that's why I'm too lazy to do it. Then there's Tita Marie who will scold me first and will tell me that it's for my own sake, and later on she'll still help me memorize it. That's why whenever Tita Marie's name is mentioned, I always remember those times and that's also my favorite memory with her. I'll miss you, Tita Marie 😊

“ My favorite memory of Tita Marie was when her and Tito James visited us in Ireland, and she played Just Dance with me even though it was super late. We were already halfway up the stairs and I was really sad because I wanted to play more, so Tita Marie went back down with me and we danced some more 💕 She also knitted me a bonnet, which I loved a lot 😊

“ Some of my fondest memories of Tita Marie is when she came to visit us in Ireland. I remember she always played with me, and accompanied my sister and I to the park. Another memory is when we went to the states. She and Tito James were very accommodating, and made sure we enjoyed our time there. My favorite memory is when they took my sister and I sledding. I'll gonna miss you Tita ❤️

“ I always remember my Ate as a very strong and practical woman I know. She's always there readily available to chat with me, long hours of conversation with her seems so short, she's not just a sister to me but also a friend whom we can talk everything. She's full of life, a very jolly person, very inspiring and most of all always ready to listen. I can still hear your voice even up to now Ate. I miss chatting with you almost everyday. I miss you so much Ate knowing you're not here anymore makes me feel so sad but one thing is so assuring that you are now at peace in the presence of our Lord Jesus together with Tatay, Nanay, Diko, and Ate Siony. I know you guys are now having a grand reunion with the Lord.

I thank God for your life Ate. You remain steadfast in your faith.

You have fought a good fight, you have finished the race, you have kept the faith (2 Timothy 4:7)

If we live, we live for the Lord; and if we die, we die for the Lord. So, whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord. (Romans 14:8)

To Kuya James and Bianca, lets heal together as family. May the comforting love of our Lord be upon us all.

To Kuya James thanks for your unconditional love for Ate, we really appreciate your love, care, and effort you've shown to her. We love you Kuya James.

To you my dear sister, sleep well in the loving arms of our Lord Jesus. We'll see you again. I love you and miss you so much ❤️

“ I admire Tita Marie's strength of character and faith. She never succumbed to being just a patient. She never lost her sense of self and independence. She was always so full of energy and positivity whenever you talk to her that you'd be the one blessed and comforted instead of the other way around. I will miss her and her hearty laugh, so synonymous with her personality, a good mix of strength, joy and warmth.

“ Tita Marie was so lovely and wonderful. I can hear her voice even now, always encouraging, always inspiring. She was such a blessing. I will miss her dearly and I'm so thankful to the Lord that she helped reunite me back to my Amato family.

She had more joys in her life, than sorrows. In my last conversation with her, she just talked of how grateful she was that she had retired early and got to spend time with Uncle James and Bianca. I love you Tita! I will carry your memory with me forever.

Twinkle Martz - July 05 at 08:11 AM

“ My aunt Marie was a role model to me in many ways: a caring mom, a present sister, and an advocate for health. She was always full of joy. She was welcoming and loving, especially to everyone she met and everyone felt her warmth even during trying times.

We'll miss her very much but we're so grateful for the wisdom and warmth she showed us.

“ I worked with Tina at NFCU back in 1995. I had invited her to church and her daughter visited my Sunday School class. We lost track of each other for 20 years, but reconnected in 2018 on FB. During this time she found out she had lung cancer. I had experienced cancer through my Dad's battle and felt a burden to pray for her through hers. Through this journey, she would update me after her doctors visits and I would pray specifically for what she needed. I'm so sad to hear that she lost her fight with this disease, BUT, I can only imagine what it must've been like for her to hear well done....Scripture tells us that life is just a vapor, James 4:14, we never know when our last day on earth will be, but I believe she lived her life well, with excellence, and with the joy of the Lord. You will be missed Tina Marie Malin.

I will never forget those happy moments we had way back in November 2017, when you sponsored me to come to you in the United States. You and James had made yourselves available to go on a tour for me. Thank you, James, the Lord strengthens and brings you comfort with each passing day. Our deepest condolences. Marie will surely be missed. We all love you, James.

We are blessed to get to know Tinamarie. She is always looking after her brothers and sisters and she is willing to make sacrifices just to help out. She understood my personal hardship and offered words of comfort which was wonderful. May the Lord bless James and Bianca with the comfort they need during this time of sadness.
